

Introducing
Fernan Rodriguez, Foreign Legal Consultant

Fernan is a foreign legal consultant and has represented a variety of domestic and international clients in the areas of Colombian, US, and international taxation, corporate law, estate-planning and wealth preservation.

Fernan has extensive experience in stock and asset acquisitions primarily in Colombia, the US, and other Latin American countries, including corporate reorganizations minimizing tax implications in the corresponding jurisdictions. He has worked extensively with investors and high net worth individuals on tax efficient structures for inbound and outbound investments. Many of these transactions have required the creation of international tax-efficient structures that meet the compliance requirements of multiple taxing jurisdictions.

Fernan advises on a wide array of tax, corporate, and estate planning issues, including tax implications of cross-border transfers between related and non related companies and individuals, treaty benefits of international transactions, and devising estate planning and wealth preservation structures with assets located in multiple jurisdictions. He also works on the tax aspects of US companies and individuals investing in Colombia and other Latin American countries, and Colombian, and other Latin American companies and individuals investing in the US.

Fernan earned his law degree from Pontificia Universidad Javeriana in Bogota, Colombia, a graduate degree in tax law from Universidad del Rosario in Bogota, Colombia, and a Master of Laws with emphasis on tax law from Georgetown University Law Center. In his spare time he enjoys golf, soccer and running.
